along with

ALLDATA 2021, The Seventh International Conference on Big Data, Small Data, Linked Data and Open Data

<https://www.iaria.org/conferences2021/ALLDATA21.html>

April 18, 2021 to April 22, 2021 - Porto, Portugal

This track will present real cases where data management directly impact in the performance and profit of the companies. They may cover one or several aspects of the data value chain, from the data acquisition to the processing and visualization of the insights. The applications should describe the how the new solution go beyond the company and technology state of the art as well as highlight the improvements of the main business indicators.

The applications must include the motivation, the experiments, the deployment of the solution in the productive conditions and the evaluation in real business cases. This track aims to show that the data services can generate real profit in the private sector to motivate further investment in human and technical resources.

Topics include, but not limited to:

Dataflows;
Modelling;
Predictions;
Pattern recognition;
Classification and clustering;
Decision tree;
Big data architecture;
Business intelligence;
Reporting and visualizations;
Business impact.
