

Dr. Sathiamoorthy Manoharan is a Senior Lecturer in Computer Science at the University of Auckland. Prior to this, he worked for the Advanced Computer Research Institute in Lyon, France. He holds a PhD from Edinburgh University, and a BTech (Hons) in Electronics and Electrical Communication Engineering from the Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur. His research interests include ubiquitous computing, parallel and distributed systems, and high-performance systems.

Dr Manoharan has been active in a number of IARIA conferences, where he served on technical and program committees. The conferences include International Conference on Systems and Networks Communications, the International Conference on Mobile Ubiquitous Computing, Systems, Services and Technologies, and the International Conference on Internet Monitoring and Protection. He has also served in the program committees of various other conferences in the area, and have reviewed papers for conferences as well as journals. He is member of IEEE and IET, and serves on the committee of the local IEEE section.