

Biography

Lynne Zucker

Vice President, Clinical Systems Integration

Canada Health Infoway

As Vice President, Clinical Systems Integration at Canada Health Infoway, Lynne is currently leading a new initiative to provide citizen access to health information and digital health services. Lynne is also responsible for the Digital Health Alliance, a collection of programs, tools and services associated with digital health standards and clinical interoperability

Lynne is professional engineer, holding a BAsC in systems design engineering and a MASc in the management of technology, both from the University of Waterloo. Prior to working at Canada Health Infoway, she held leadership roles at Apple Computer and Sun Microsystems. Lynne also serves on the Board of Directors for IHE International.