   October 18, 2020 to October 22, 2020 - Porto, Portugal

   In this special track, we will discuss navigation, notification, and sensing without vision based on all vehicles. Many recent vehicles are systems using cameras, displays, and the human eyes. Many systems depend on displays and camera. Up to 80 percent of the information which people gets is from eyes.

   However, users can be confused by too many visual images because of much information on the many display because many systems use visual images. Also it is difficult to use the visual system under the environment without any light. Not only visual system, but also multimedia system can be expected to improve information processing performance and safety.

   Therefore, to realize the system that does not depend too much on vision or that is difficult to use cameras for, we will discuss the potential and possibility of non-visual sensors and actuators for vehicles.

   Topics include, but not limited to:
   - Communication Method between Driver and System
   - Sound / Vibration Alert
   - Multimedia Navigation
   - Non Visual Localization for UAV
   - System on Dark Environment
   - System for Vehicle with Non Visual Sensors Using Such as Ultrasound, Acoustic, Radio, Accelerometer, Infrared
