

Dr. Steve Chan

Dr. Chan serves as Chief Technology Officer for the MIT Laboratory for the Public Engagement with Science (E-Lab).

He has held academic appointments as a Senior Fellow at the Harvard Kennedy School, Technology Dissemination Fellow at the MIT International Development Initiative, Chief Software Architect/Fellow within the MIT Engineering Systems Division, National Preparedness Fellow within the MIT School of Engineering, and a Cyber Security Fellow at Harvard University.

His presentations and lectures have been featured at the White House, National Research Council of the National Academies, World Economic Forum, Aspen Security Forum, and a number of United Nations venues with regards to the Industrial Internet.

He currently serves on the Review Committee for the NATO Cooperative Cyber Defence Centre of Excellence's International Conference on Cyber Conflict (CyCon), Program Committee for the Naval Postgraduate School's Cyber Endeavour (CE), and the Cyber Steering Committee for IARIA's International Conference on Cyber-Technologies and Cyber-Systems.